

Hello!

I was interested in the vacancy "QA-engineer (manual)" posted by your company on the website hh.ru . I offer you my candidacy and send a resume.

I don't have much practice, because I have not permanent job. But I have the skills and I am well familiar with all the processes, features, scenarios and techniques necessary to work in the position I am applying for. I am sure that I will cope with my responsibilities, and I will be useful to you, including with my more than 20 years of successful experience in managing commercial and public organizations.

I am ready to participate together with your company in the development and implementation of software, and improve in the field of testing digital products.

I will be glad to pass the interview and complete the test task.

Thank you for your time,

Sergey Kapitonov.
